

User Guide Overview

August 25, 2026

User Guide Overview

Welcome to the Atloria User Guide. This section helps you find the right instructions based on what you want to do in Atloria, whether you are setting up a project, writing documentation, publishing updates, reviewing analytics, or managing AI support agents.

If you are new to Atloria, start with the areas that match your goal instead of trying to read everything in order.

Where to Start

I'm new to Atloria

Start with Documentation Production for the main day-to-day documentation workflow in Atloria. If you are setting up projects or connecting services, also check Integrations and Technical Sources.

I want to create and publish documentation

Go to Documentation Production. This area covers writing, organizing, previewing, versioning, approvals, screenshots, audiences, and public reading.

I want to manage AI support agents

Go to AI and Support. This area covers setting up support agents, managing AI behavior, and reviewing AI activity.

I want reports or exports

Go to Reporting and Exports. This area covers analytics, audit review, and export-related tasks.

I want to connect Atloria to other tools

Go to Integrations and Technical Sources. This area covers connected services, technical source workflows, and supported language and framework views.

I want a full workflow from setup to publishing

Go to Cross Module Workflows. This area connects tasks across projects, content, audiences, publishing, and support agents.

User Guide Categories

Product Workspaces (0 docs)

This category is intended for major Atloria work areas used to manage projects, versions, screenshots, support agents, and technical documentation. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Documentation Experience (0 docs)

This category is intended for public reading, audience presentation, and documentation asset workflows that shape how Atloria content is consumed and reviewed. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Documentation Lifecycle (0 docs)

This category is intended for managing documentation versions from creation through review, access control, and release preparation in Atloria. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Content Management (0 docs)

This category is intended for creating, organizing, releasing, and validating documentation content across authoring and version workflows. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Atloria (0 docs)

This category is intended for top-level Atloria workspace guidance covering project operations, content lifecycle management, publishing, and reader experiences. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Product Management (0 docs)

This category is intended for major operational areas used to manage Atloria projects, releases, analytics, exports, and connected services. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Content and Delivery (0 docs)

This category is intended for content creation, audience delivery, public reading, and screenshot workflows for Atloria documentation teams. There are currently no guides published in this category.

End to End Documentation Workflows (0 docs)

This category is intended for cross-module processes that connect setup, authoring, versions, audiences, publishing, and support agent outcomes. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Technical Reference (0 docs)

This category is intended for technical documentation browsing, code parsing, and language support workflows available through Atloria screens. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Publishing Workflows (0 docs)

This category is intended for end-to-end Atloria workflows that connect projects, versions, audiences, publication, and support agent knowledge use. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Documentation Visual Assets (0 docs)

This category is intended for capturing, organizing, reviewing, and validating screenshots used in documentation. There are currently no guides published in this category.

AI Management (0 docs)

This category is intended for monitoring AI activity and managing organization-level AI usage visibility in Atloria. There are currently no guides published in this category.

AI and Support Management (0 docs)

This category is intended for support agent setup, knowledge use, behavior controls, and visible AI activity monitoring. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Documentation Production (94 docs)

This is the main user area for authoring and publishing documentation in Atloria. It covers project onboarding, document editing, versions, approvals, audiences, screenshots, access control, and the public documentation viewer.

Key docs include Project Onboarding, Document Editor, Documentation Versions, Approval Workflow, Audiences, Screenshot Capture, Version Access Control, and Public Documentation Viewer.

Governance and Export (0 docs)

This category is intended for audit review, compliance-oriented record handling, and export workflows in Atloria. There are currently no guides published in this category.

Reporting and End to End Workflows (0 docs)

This category is intended for analytics-driven decisions and cross-module workflows that connect setup, authoring, release, audiences, and support experiences. There are currently no guides published in this category.

AI and Support (17 docs)

This category covers Atloria support agents and AI configuration features used across your organization. Use it when you want to create agents, adjust AI settings, or review AI activity.

Key docs include Support Agents and AI Settings.

Reporting and Exports (25 docs)

This category covers visibility and record-sharing workflows in Atloria. Use it for analytics, audit review, and export tasks tied to documentation activity and version records.

Key docs include Enterprise Analytics, Audit Trail, Export Center, and Admin Dashboard.

Integrations and Technical Sources (41 docs)

This category covers connecting Atloria to external services and working with technical source material. It also includes supported language and framework information and code parsing work areas.

Key docs include Integrations, Languages & Frameworks, and Code Parsing Workspace.

Cross Module Workflows (10 docs)

This category helps you follow complete processes that span more than one area of Atloria. Use it when your task involves setup, content creation, audiences, publishing, and support agents together.

Start here after you understand the basics in Project Management, Documentation Versions, and Support Agents.

Tips for Navigating the User Guide

Use categories by goal

Choose a category based on the outcome you want, such as publishing content, reviewing reports, or managing AI support.

Start broad, then go specific

Begin with a category overview, then open the linked guides for step-by-step help.

Check related areas when your task crosses teams

In Atloria, many tasks connect across projects, versions, publishing, and support. If one guide does not cover the full process, check Cross Module Workflows next.