System Settings overview

System Settings at a glance

System Settings is the shared administrative boundary for configuration after the feature-specific administration areas. The overview page is headed General settings and currently presents an empty state, a page with no settings form to complete.

Before you start

You do not need a record, field value, or form submission to use this page.

Understand the System Settings surface

The page displays an empty-state message:

Nothing to configure here yet

The page presents no configuration controls in these forms:

Page area	What you do instead
Input fields	Choose the separate settings page for the configuration job.
Selectors	Choose the separate settings page for the configuration job.
Tables or grids	Choose the separate settings page for the configuration job.
Named actions or buttons	Choose the separate settings page for the configuration job.

The empty state also states that profile, notification, and theme preferences are under development and will land here. Use the settings-page table in the next section to choose the area for your task.

Choose the next settings page

Use the separate settings page that matches the work you need to do. The overview directs organization, billing, AI, and audience settings to their own pages under Settings:

If you need to...	Go to
Manage organization-level administration	Organization overview
Configure branding	Configure Branding
Configure integrations	Configure Integrations
Configure billing	Configure Billing
Configure AI	AI Configuration overview
Configure audience settings	Use the audience settings page under Settings.
Manage custom domains	Manage custom domains

1. In the table above, select the link labelled Organization overview, Configure Branding, Configure Integrations, Configure Billing, AI Configuration overview, or Manage custom domains, according to your administrative task.

Result: The page for the selected settings area is identified.

The overview also states:

Organization, billing, AI, and audience settings each have their own page under Settings.
