

FAQ

September 15, 2026

FAQ

What this FAQ covers

Find the page that owns the answer to your question. No dedicated FAQ surface is declared.

If you need to...	Go to understand what conduit is	What is conduit decide who uses conduit	Who uses conduit understand the available capabilities	What can you do with conduit
prepare the application	System requirements
choose a help destination	Getting help
complete your first sign-in and profile visit	Your first day
understand the interface	Understanding the interface
move around the application	Navigation basics
personalize your workspace	Personalizing your workspace
learn product terms	Basic terminology
find articles	Discover articles
read an article	Read an article
create or edit an article	Create an article or Edit an article view or follow a profile	View a profile or Follow an author
view saved favourites	View favorited articles
change your settings	Update your settings
understand an error or solve a common issue	General error messages or Common issues and solutions

Choose a destination, then review its topic.

Before you look for an answer

The FAQ is a directory, not a separate application screen. There is no dedicated FAQ or Help & Troubleshooting destination to open. The FAQ has no fields, controls, or FAQ-specific condition to operate.

Before you look for an answer...	Know this
look for the FAQ in the application	Start here
expect a form	The FAQ has no fields to complete expect an FAQ action	The FAQ has no controls to select

When you know the FAQ has no form or action, match your question to a destination.

Find the page that answers your question

Use the question you are trying to answer, not the name of an application screen.

Prerequisites

You know the subject of your question.

Steps

1. Select the link in the Go to column that matches your question.
2. Open the named page.
3. Follow that page's instructions for the task or issue.

Result: You are on the page that owns the instructions for your question.

Continue with the owning page

The selected page contains the task, error, or setup guidance for its subject.

Prerequisites

You have selected an owning topic from the table.

Steps

1. Open the owning page.
2. Follow its preparation steps before acting in the application.

3. Return to the owning page when you need its task result or troubleshooting guidance.

Result: The relevant task, setup, or troubleshooting guidance is in front of you.